

THE OUR VOICES UNIVERSITY NETWORK:
CHALLENGING SEXUAL VIOLENCE
AGAINST CHILDREN AND YOUTH

Online interactive workshop

What it's like working with – and being part of – youth advisory groups in the context of research focussing on adolescent health, gender and violence.

Thursday the 29th September from 2 – 3:30 pm UK time

Register here:

This workshop will bring together teams from:

- The University of Bedfordshire's Safer Young Lives Research Centre and Young Researchers' Advisory Panel (YRAP).
- The Global Early Adolescent Study and Global Youth Advisory Board, coordinated by the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.
- Accelerating Achievement for Africa's Adolescents (Accelerate) Hub, a collaboration led by the Universities of Oxford and Cape Town with one of the Hub's Teen Advisory Groups.

Workshop participants will get to hear the perspectives of both youth advisors and the academic researchers they work with, as each 'team' gives a short presentation sharing their experiences from collaborating on research projects that explore adolescent health and wellbeing.

Following these presentations, workshop participants will go into 'break out rooms' where they will have the opportunity to discuss some of the presentation themes in more detail, such as:

Relationships and rapport building
Structures and processes
Transitions
Discussing sensitive issues

Please note, due to the format of the workshop only limited places will be available so please register soon to confirm your place!

For more details, please contact: claire.soares@beds.ac.uk